DIGITAL TRANSFORMATION IN HEALTHCARE, POWERED
BY SUPPLY CHAIN

The healthcare industry is under immense strain from the pandemic. Many of the challenges faced by healthcare organizations prior to Covid-19, such as rising costs, decreasing margins and depleting cash reserves have been drastically enhanced. So, the need for change is dire. Healthcare delivery systems must become more efficient and productive.

Fortunately, there is a big opportunity to improve.

What is The Fundamental Challenge?

Overall, there is often a misalignment between physician needs, patient needs and healthcare supply chain. This causes:

- ✓ Clinical variations that drive up costs and increase complexity
- ✓ Master data management challenges, internally & across supply chain
- ✓ Poor visibility into costs & utilization
- ✓ Unmanaged supplier relationships, contracts & spend
